'Preacher' Baxton Pleads Guilty to Murder

Changes Plea Before Judge Bracken Today

Will Pronounce Sentence on Slayer Tuesday

Henry "Preacher" Baxton, accused slayer of Mrs. Julia Simpkins, today in Circuit court pleaded guilty to murder and a hearing to determine his sentence will be held Tuesday, Oct. 31, at 10 a. m. before Judge Robert Bracken.

Public Defender Walter Stevens, Pawpaw, on Oct. 10 had entered a not guilty plea for Baxton in the Sept. 9 slaying. However, Stevens did not appear in court today when Baxton changed his plea.

Baxton was indicted by the grand jury for murder and rape of Mrs. Simpkins.

Baxton changed his plea this morning when Judge Bracken asked him the reason for his being in court. Previously State's Atty. Pires had told the judge that he had been notified by Sheriff Charles Redebaugh yesterday that Baxton wanted to change his plea.

Before accepting the 38-year-old former shoeshine boy's change of plea, Bracken appeared concerned that a lawyer was not in court to represent Baxton.

Where's Attorney
"What's become of the lawyer I appointed for you Oct. 10?" the judge asked.

"I don't know," Baxton replied. "I talked with him yesterday afternoon and told him I was going to change my plea to guilty. I don't need an attorney and I don't want an attorney."

Upon a question by Bracken, Sheriff Redebaugh said he did not know if Stevens was notified of this morning's hearing.

"Do you want a trial?" Bracken asked.

"No," Baxton said, "I want to plead guilty."

Reads Him Law
Bracken then read the law to Baxton in a final attempt to make sure he wanted to change his plea. The penalty would be a minimum of 14 years in prison and a maximum of death.

Baxton still insisted that he wanted to plead guilty and the judge accepted the plea.

Tuesday both Baxton and Pires have an opportunity to offer evidence of the crime and from this hearing Judge Bracken will determine sentence.

Baxton was arrested Sept. 10 in Council Bluffs, Ia., when he was taken off a Chicago and Northwestern railroad train by Council Bluffs police.

Signs Statement
He admitted the crime to Council Bluffs police and later was reported to have signed a confession before Sheriff Redebaugh.

Tax Collector Tells How He Juggled Own Income Reports

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A federal tax collector's account of his lucrative sideline activities—and a dispute over his own income tax deductions—touched spurs today to an audit of the tax returns of the internal revenue bureau's 56,000 workers.

The story unfolded yesterday under house investigators' questioning of dapper, excitable Joseph P. Marcelle, who had resigned by request Tuesday as tax collector at Brooklyn for the first New York district.

Hides $38,834
John B. Dunlap, commissioner of internal revenue, testified that an audit of Marcelle's tax returns showed he had claimed unsubstantiated income tax deductions and understated his income a total of $38,834 since becoming collector in 1944. Marcelle's tax returns never before had been audited, Dunlap added.

Marcelle conceded he "was very careless" about his own taxes. He testified that his net worth when he went to work for the bureau was $2,415 and a house in his wife's name. In 1948, four years later, he said, his gross income was $135,776.58, mostly from out-

Teachers From Four Counties Hear Gen. Wilbur Assail U. S. Failure in Psychological War

By STAN KOESTER
Telegraph Staff Member

Teachers from Lee, Ogle, Whiteside and DeKalb counties today packed the Dixon high school auditorium to overflowing for the 23rd annual meeting of the Rock river division of the Illinois Education association.

Many teachers were forced to stand through the morning program. All of the 1,175 seats were filled while many heard the program over a public address system on the second floor of the high school.

Featured this morning was a musical and dramatic presentation of "As Written in the Code" by the Northern Illinois State college band and dramatics department under the direction of Charles E. Howell.

DiVall Presides
P. H. DiVall, Erie, president of the division, introduced Illinois association guests prior to the main talk of the morning which was given by Gen. W. H. Wilbur (retired), holder of the Congressional Medal of Honor.

The report of yesterday afternoon activities at the Lee county teacher's institute can be found on page seven of today's Telegraph.

Gen Wilbur who has participated in many surveys in Europe and the Orient and in a study of industrial relations in the United States, spoke on "The Crisis in American Foreign Policy."

Tells of Socialism

He criticized the loss of initiative in England under the Socialist government, praised reconstruction in the American zone of Germany and condemned America's failure in understanding the problems of psychological warfare now in progress.

The general said that 12 years of inadequate diet have changed the characteristics of the British people. He explained how workers despite the aid of modern machinery refuse to do more work than their father's did. Coal production in England has dropped from 300,000,000 tons annually in 1914 to 215,000,000 tons today.

He found in England that the common people either have not heard of the Marshall plan or do not know that it has helped them in any way. He said that the theory is that if a man works more than the minimum he works for the government.

Germany Progresses
Meanwhile in Germany reconstruction is going on at a rapid pace and the people are well-fed, Gen Wilbur stated. In continental Europe the Marshall plan funds were used for food for the people while in England they were turned over to the government, he ex-

Winston Churchill, in Fighting Trim, Ready To Restore Britain to Role of World Power

By ALVIN STEINKOPF

LONDON — (AP) — In his 77th year Winston Churchill resumes charge of British destiny.

He picks up where he left off in 1945, when Britain basked in the flush of victory over Germany. Many called him the architect of that victory.

But he was turned out, and now after more than six bleak years the people have recalled the old captain to his command. He is going back to 10 Downing street, where prime ministers of Britain work and live. For half the globe it is, from a political point of view, the most important address in the world.

It comes as a bit of a shock to many Britons that a living Winston Churchill, in radiant health and still fighting fit, should again assume the management of his majesty's affairs and inject spunk into policy.

For some years many have thought of him as the man behind the peevish voice in the background. He was considered something good in Britain's past, like the Magna Carta or the Island's "finest hour." He was a giant in his time.

Now he makes a smashing comeback as a vigorous statesman thinking about the future and again wielding the authority to shape it.

"It isn't easy living with Mr. Churchill as prime minister," says the green-grocer's wife.

"Not easy, but you know you are alive," says her customer. "Maybe with him in charge the world will get back into the habit of respecting the British."

With Churchill back there was bound to be a tension in the air—a feeling that great and exciting events were impending—a vast turning of the corner—now that an old powerhouse of a personality was restored to look after the British interests.

All sorts of things were being said:

The Iranians had better watch their step, or Winnie will hit 'em with a cruiser. No they won't, the Iranians will get a fair settlement for their oil, and an honorable deal to make them happy.

There will be war in Egypt. Not unless the Egyptians start it, and then of course they will be sorry.

Pensions will be trimmed and the health service crippled. Don't be silly, Churchill started these plans and will run them right.

There will be unemployment and bread lines from here to Canterbury. Not with all the work that comes from rearmament, and housing and modernization of mining and industry.

Britain will get tangled up in American schemes, and involved all over the world in capitalist plots. Forget it, Churchill knows how to handle Americans. His mother was an American, wasn't she?

He will tie us up in half-baked notions of a united Europe so we won't know whether we are governed by Spaniards or Bavarians. Don't worry, Churchill knows there is an English channel, and that the British navy is still afloat.

We'll get into trouble with Russia. Maybe, but Churchill won't pull the trigger.

That's how men talk in the streets and shops.

But most British, those who supported him and those who didn't, do expect that he will bring vigor to the government, and that Britain will speak with a voice of authority. He is expected to make his influence felt in the United Nations, to stand fast against Communism, to labor for a united Europe and to make the closest possible working arrangements with the United States.

Many can't recall a time when Churchill was not a dominating and often a controversial figure in national affairs. He represents continuity. He got his first commission in the British army from Queen Victoria in 1904.

He was a rough rider in Cuba two years before President Theodore Roosevelt rode to rough-riding fame in that island.

His military experience spanned the period between the cavalryman's saber and the atomic bomb.

There were other decorative and practical minor offices, and virtually all of his adult life he has been a member of parliament.

LeGrand Cannon Takes Post With Commonwealth Edison

LeGrand Cannon, 122 East Third st., Dixon, division sales manager for the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, has been named staff assistant to the vice president in charge of sales of the Commonwealth Edison Company with headquarters in Chicago, it was announced today by George B. Fluhr, executive officer of the company's Illinois Northern Division. His new appointment is effective Nov. 1.

Cannon, who was an executive of the Illinois Northern Utilities company for 15 years prior to its merger with Public Service last year, will be joining the company with which he began his utility career in 1929.

A native of Indianapolis and a graduate of DePauw university, Cannon was a reporter for the Indianapolis News before joining the Edison Company as a power sales engineer.

He was associated with Edison for six years before coming to Dixon in 1935 in a similar capacity for the Illinois Northern Company. He subsequently served as assistant to the vice president, general contract agent and assistant to the president of Illinois Northern. Following the merger of Illinois Northern with Public Service last December he became division sales manager.

Cannon, who has resided in Dixon with his wife and two daughters for the past 16 years, said he has no plans as yet for moving his family to Chicago but for the present he expects to spend five days a week in the city and the weekends in Dixon.

R. H. Harridge, assistant to the division sales manager, has been named to succeed Cannon as division sales manager.

Harridge has been with the company for 21 years, is a graduate of the University of Michigan. Mr. and Mrs. Harridge live at 509 E. Third st.

Red Losses Set At 1,414,635

WASHINGTON, (AP) — The U. S. army today estimated total enemy casualties in Korea through Oct. 19 at 1,414,635.

The new figure represents an increase of 41,406 since the last estimate through Oct. 10.

Enemy battle casualties were placed at 1,021,197 and non-battle losses at 226,507. The prisoner of war total, the only head-count figure in the overall total, reached 156,931.

The only U.S. casualty figures available are those of U.S. forces in Korea. Through Oct. 19 American losses were reported as 92,997 killed, wounded, missing and captured.

Allies Reject Red Truce Zone Proposals; See 'Horse Trade'

MUNSAN—KOREA—(AP)—The Allies today quickly rejected a Communist buffer zone proposal that the U. N. give up such bitterly won Korean areas as Heartbreak Ridge . . . Punchbowl . . . Iron Triangle.

The Reds wanted the United Nations forces to withdraw as much as 15 miles. Their proposal countered yesterday's U. N. suggestion for a buffer zone generally along present battle lines.

Maj. Gen. Henry I. Hodes told the Reds their proposal bore "no relationship to the military line of contact and did not offer truce protections."

The Communists made no mention of their previous demands for a demarcation line along the 38th parallel. Apparently they have abandoned the idea.

The Red offer and U.N. reject came at the second meeting of subcommittees trying to agree on a cease-fire line. The meetings are held in Panmunjom.

Under the Red proposal, they would keep Kaesong, former site of truce talks two miles south of the 38th parallel. They would withdraw from part of Ongjin peninsula on the west coast, an area the Allies describe as militarily unimportant.

The subcommittees meet again at 11 a.m. Saturday (8 p.m. Friday, CST).

It appeared the two delegations were entering a period of horse-trading.

Conservatives Cinch Victory By Slim Margin

Winston Churchill Will Become Prime Minister at Once

LONDON — (AP) — Winston Churchill returned to power in Britain today. He led his Conservative party to victory over the Labor government in a desperately-fought election that rung down the curtain on six years of Socialism rule but left the Tories far short of the House of Commons Strength they hoped for.

Churchill, just turning 77, was assured of a majority, or more than 313 seats, in the House of Commons. The exact size of the conservative majority will not be known until a few outlying districts report next week. But it will be a slender margin — leaving possibly 300 seats to Clement R. Attlee's Labor party. This is not much better than the thin margin previously held by Attlee.

The result brought to a climax six years of grim, unrelenting struggles by political warrior Churchill against the Socialist doctrines of the Labor party, which imposed government control over much of Britain's industry and private enterprise.

Hold 310 Seats
With returns in from 604 of the nation's 625 districts, the Conservatives held 310 seats in the House of Commons, the waning Liberal party, four, and others, two.

In percentages, the Conservatives had won 48.5 of the total known popular vote, the Socialists 49.1 and the Liberals 2.4.

Churchill was jubilant — and grateful. Speaking to his constituents at Woodford, where he was reelected to parliament, he said:

"You have given me wonderful support. It never reached a higher pinnacle than it did today."

Will Resume Leadership

With the Conservatives back in control, it was certain that Churchill would be chosen by them to resume the post of prime minister. This is the office he held throughout World War II and lost in August, 1945, when a Socialist tidal wave swept his government out of office.

He told British voters, during the campaign, that putting an end to the cold war with the Communist world is "the last prize I seek to win." This effort, and the modification of Socialist structures on business and industry, undoubtedly will engage his attentions immediately.

Eden To Be Successor

He may then step out of office in favor of his closest associate, Anthony Eden, who is reported slated for his former post of foreign secretary. Rumors to that effect were current in London even before the electioneering began.

Attlee now becomes the leader

One Phase of Methodist Church Building Program Closes With Dedication of Entrance Sunday

Dr. Forrest W. Hoisington, district superintendent of the Joliet-Dixon district of the Rock River conference of the Methodist church, will preach Sunday morning at the First Methodist church in Dixon and at the close of the service will dedicate the new church entrance.

The entrance is the gift of William D. Baum and Flora A. Baum, who were active members of the church during their lifetime and left a bequest of $10,000 to the church. A bronze plaque will be placed in the entrance acknowledging the gift.

This dedication closes one phase of a building and improvement program which began Dec. 3, 1946, with the appointment of Mr. C. C. Hintz as chairman of a campaign committee to secure funds. The campaign was begun under the leadership of the chairman and the pastor, the Rev. Merrill S. Tope.

Committee Recommendations

On February 1, 1949, on recommendation of the Building committee, the Official Board authorized:

1. The installation of a modern heating plant in the church.
 2. The insulation of the church building.
 3. The decoration of the sanctuary.
 4. The erection of the new entrance.
- They further recommended that the pastor, the Rev. Aura C. Nesmith, be requested to give leadership in the raising of the necessary funds to carry out this program and that the bequest of $10,000 from the estate of William D. Baum and Flora A. Baum be used for the erection of the new entrance to be designated as The Baum Entrance in honor of the donors.

As the work progressed, many other projects were included which were provided for by special gifts of individuals and organizations and by the use of funds set aside annually in the church budget for maintenance and improvement.

Volunteer Labor

Under the leadership of the pastor, thousands of manhours of volunteer labor have been donated.

Extensive improvements have been made in both the church and parsonage property. A beautiful rose window was installed in the front of the sanctuary and a new bulletin board was presented to the church.

Nobel Winner Shot By Eccentric Fan

GOETTINGEN, Germany — (AP)—Police today blamed an eccentric science fan for stabbing and slightly wounding Prof. Otto Hahn, 72, German atom expert who won the 1944 Nobel chemistry prize.

Josef Kastner, 29, who turned himself in as the assailant, declared the professor had led him "without any remedy, into antagonism."

Police said Kastner had been sending Hahn rambling letters for several years on pseudo-scientific subjects.

Imprisoned For 8 Days In Box Car

PRIEST RIVER, Idaho, (AP)— "I pounded and called for days—but nobody heard me."

This is how 47-year-old Fred Howerton described his attempts to get help while imprisoned in a freight car without food for eight days.

With his voice almost gone, he finally attracted attention and was pulled from the box car looking 70 years old.

Howerton, a prospector from Pratt, Kas., jumped onto the car at Troy, Mont., hoping to head for Washington state where he has a mining claim.

A brakeman locked the car door just before it pulled out of Troy, Howerton told Dr. L. J. Stauffer today. And after the car had traveled 100 miles, it was pulled onto a siding at Laclede, Idaho.

"I could hear the automobiles running along Highway 10, and I pounded and called for days—but nobody heard me," he said.

When he finally was rescued Tuesday, Howerton had a three-inch beard. His feet were sore and swollen, a condition brought on by starvation.

The prospector said he had counted the days by keeping track of the alternating light and darkness through a small nail hole in the side of the car.

Hospital attendants believe he will be able to leave the hospital in two weeks.

Truman, Douglas Feud Still on

WASHINGTON, (AP)—President Truman made it clear yesterday he has not softened his critical attitude toward Senator Douglas (D-Ill).

Told that Douglas was circulating eight names as prospective federal court judge recommendations among members of the Chicago bar, Mr. Truman said crisply at his news conference that the bar association doesn't make presidential appointments.

Two court nominees named by the president were rejected by the senate in the last session of congress because of Douglas' opposition. Mr. Truman said he had some new names in mind to be submitted to the senate at its next meeting.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

A man's religion consists, not of the many things he is in doubt of and tries to believe, but of the few he is assured of and has no need of effort for believing.—Carlyle.

Leaders in Fire Prevention

The town of Atlantic, Iowa, which has a population of 6,000, holds an honored position in the roster of American municipalities. It won first place among 2312 other U. S. cities and towns participating in the municipality division of the 27th annual Fire Prevention Week contest. Ft. Collins, Colorado, was second, and third place was shared by Ft. Wayne, Ind., and Memphis, Tenn.

This contest, sponsored jointly by the National Board of Fire Underwriters and the National Fire Protection Association, is held each year to judge the extent and effectiveness of fire-safety efforts throughout the nation. An international committee of judges bases its decisions on exhibits of fire-loss records, scrap books, posters, pictures and other evidences of fire prevention activity during the week. The competition is tough—and the winners deserve national recognition and praise.

What is most encouraging of all is the fact that 2312 communities participated last year. Those who did not win mention need feel no regret—the big thing is to make a concerted community effort to lick the terrible menace of fire. And those who run in the ruck one year may head the pack the next.

The last Fire Prevention Week was one of the most successful on record. We should all see to it that coming weeks do a finer and more inclusive job still. Every town, every business, and every individual should join in wholeheartedly.

For a Stronger America

A unique contest "to develop in young people deeper devotion to America and a greater understanding of the democratic way of life" was announced recently in Washington. The idea of the contest is for women's clubs throughout the country to work with young people on community improvement planning and projects, thus preparing youngsters for leadership and community service.

Sponsored by the General Federation of Women's clubs in cooperation with a leading chain system, the contest, called "Build Freedom with Youth," should be a positive contribution toward the strengthening of America. Helping our youth to understand the worth of democracy is vital to the future of freedom everywhere. Part of the might of Communist Russia lies in the Kremlin's thorough system of youth indoctrination. Our children must not grow to adulthood indifferent to the system of government which guarantees their freedom.

It is significant that the same chain store company which is the co-sponsor of this program in youth education also sponsored a General Federation of Women's clubs community improvement program last year. Sponsorship of such programs is an indication of the spirit of enlightened good citizenship which typifies modern retailing in all its forms. America's thousands of stores exist because our nation's economy needs mass distribution, just as surely as it needs mass production. The amazing growth of American industry and trade would have been impossible without the system of free enterprise which created a land of unlimited opportunity.

To keep free enterprise a reality, one of the things we must do is teach our children the meaning of freedom. The "Build Freedom with Youth" program was created to teach just that—by providing youth with practical experience in making democracy work. Through knowledge comes understanding; through understanding, strength.

More than 4100 communities in the United States are dependent entirely on motor buses for local mass transportation.

RUTH MILLETT

If You Love Him You'll Think Him Wonderful

"Is it a good idea for a wife to keep up the pretense that her husband is wonderful after she has discovered that he is just an average sort of guy, sometimes right, sometimes wrong, sometimes lovable, sometimes exasperating?" asks a wife.

If she loves him, she will probably think he is wonderful, even though she knows he isn't perfect.

If she loves him, there won't be any need for pretending anything. He's her man—and he's wonderful.

Of course, she may not always think he is right. Of course, she will have moments—maybe even days or weeks—of being exasperated with him.

And if she isn't afraid to be herself she'll say when she thinks he is wrong. She'll let him know when she is exasperated.

She won't pretend to agree with him or pretend to like behavior that annoys her.

Tends to Overlook Faults

But if she loves him, she'll think he is wonderful most of the time. Because a woman who loves a man tends to think more about his good qualities than about his faults.

Loving him, she wants to think he is wonderful—and so she does. That is why she doesn't have to pretend. For if a woman thinks a man is wonderful, he knows it. He can sense the fact that even though she doesn't always think he is right or always approve of what he does she still thinks he is extra special.

Actually a woman can't fake that feeling for long, anyhow. If it is honestly there, all her attitudes will reflect it. If it isn't there, her real feelings are going to show sooner or later.

So the best advice for a wife isn't to pretend her husband is wonderful. It's to dwell more on his good qualities than on his faults—and then he'll seem wonderful.

WESTBROOK PEGLER

Unions With One-Tenth the Population as Members Want Special Powers, Pegler Says
(Copyright, 1951, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

NEW YORK—Some priests have condemned my conclusion that unionism, as we know it in the United States, is fundamentally bad. Not all of them were sincere, for some were trying to make time with the real body of American labor to recoup a loss of ground to the Communists in the early days of the scuffle for bodies. The clergy were caught flat-footed during the organizing days of the C. I. O., whose violent crimes against constituted authority also redounded to the benefit of the A. F. of L. in many important areas. My authority for the statement that not all of the priests concerned in this work are sincere is a Jesuit father who prefers not to be publicly identified. He agreed with me that the Communists got the jump in the 'thirties and that it would be a futile approach by the new group of labor missionaries to discuss the faults of unionism, however bad.

There is no fault in my thesis. Our unionism is actually a political union movement run by very few men for political objectives. All these organizations admit that they are unable to operate within the Constitution of the United States, the state constitutions and the public laws. They all claim that unions deserve special privileges and immunities which must override certain rights of about 90 per cent of the citizens who are not union members. That is not an exaggeration of the proportions. The unions claim about 15 million members, or subjects, as I insist they should be called, inasmuch as it is admitted that voluntarism doesn't exist and probably would be fatal. There are not as many as 15 million members but even if there were and none of them are unwilling captives the total membership would be only one-tenth of our total population.

I detest and oppose democracy and these people all subscribe to it in a vague way. But here we have a situation in which they flout their own cherished ideal of majority rule. It is shocking to ask us to concede to one-tenth of the population a right to operate beyond the laws governing the rest of us and grant them special discounts on the responsibilities and penalties for atrocious crimes just because they say they cannot exist otherwise. Nevertheless, that is what they have been saying over and over all these years. Therefore, it must be plain to any reasonable mind that they do not deserve to live. They put themselves in violent conflict with the rights of the nine-tenths and so they must die, for the majority will not tolerate that.

In a minute I will come to the subject of the kind of unionism that should be possible, but, first, I should like to point out, perhaps not for the first time, that the Wagner act was put over on the American people by a confused, unfaithful congress at the order of a bad, reckless president whose wickedness in many other particulars is no longer disputed. The people had made no demand for a national labor law nor a labor relations board. Like the clergy, the people were caught flatfooted. They found themselves trapped by a law which pretended to promote peaceful commerce between the states. Actually this law deprived them of trials by jury in important courts, exposed them to the unlimited taxing power of Communists and other criminals, put them into guilty partnership with bad men in the commission of crimes and curtailed their political freedom by forcing them to contribute to the campaign funds of a party which they opposed.

No religious advocate of unionism ever has challenged by contention that the Wagner act did have this effect. Robert N. Denham, who was forced out of his place as general counsel of the labor relations board because he strictly enforced the Taft-Hartley law, wrote: "The Wagner act was passed in the depths of the depression for the frank purpose of helping the unions. The labor relations board, which the act created went into full partnership with the unions in a campaign to organize American industry." "The unions" which he refers to were a few hundred brutal, morally illiterate dictators in league with the new deal.

The campaign which ensued was a series of riotous, bloody insurrections which no clergyman could justify on the grounds which were advanced as justification, namely that employers resist organizations. What if they did? They had a right to. Moreover, millions of workers resisted, too. We all saw movies of bloody beatings of workers by union goons. None of the leading criminals of that terror has ever expressed contri-tion or offered restitution and no priest can morally justify their title to the illicit benefits of this nefarious conduct. I take it that no priest wants to defend an immoral position.

A decent labor movement could not possibly have come out of that campaign of crimes under the management of men incapable of running their enterprise with a proper respect for their rights of all citizens.

Voluntarism must be the foundation of any union consistent with the Constitution. It makes no difference what interpretation any priest shall put upon any ecclesiastical. These are not binding on the whole people of the United States. Moreover, they do not mean what some priests say they mean. It is one thing to exhort workers to join unions as several popes have done. It is another thing to drive them into compounds with clubs as the C. I. O. did in Michigan or to achieve the same effect by other cruel coercions.

The only union acceptable under our laws and our society is one which will confine itself strictly

Questions and Answers

Q—According to statistics where is the most popular place to live today?

A—Farm-city statistics indicate that the popular place to live today is in the suburban area of a large city. Farms continuing to lose population and the cities are barely holding their own.

Q—What is the standard gauge—or space between rails—for U. S. railroads?

A—In the United States, and in many foreign countries, the standard gauge is 4 feet 8 1/2 inches.

Q—Are the icebergs that come down from Alaska parts of glaciers?

A—Usually. Certain glaciers fail to melt before they reach salt water. These are carried into Glacier Bay, and chunks break off. These chunks become icebergs.

Q—Have the Washington Senators ever won a World Series?

A—Yes. In the 12th inning of the last game of the 1924 World Series, the Senators beat the New York Giants for their only world title.

Q—In French history, what was a dauphin?

A—From 1349 to 1830, dauphin was the title of the eldest son of the King of France. After the Revolution of 1830 the title was abolished.

So They Say

People pay taxes to their government to get protection. Our people are paying huge taxes but... are getting no protection against dangers from without, no protection against fraud and cheating and chicanery from within.—Sen. William E. Jenner (R. Ind.)

The Pole (under Russian domination) will not be deprived of his traditions, his inspiring history or his buoyant sustaining nationalism. Moreover, he will not retreat from his religion. He knows that some day, somehow, peace will prevail.—Gov. John Fine, Pennsylvania.

The season for common colds is here again. No doubt, it will be accompanied as usual by new announcements of the best cure yet. At any rate, it is a sure bet that millions and millions of dollars will be spent for drugs, vitamins, nose-drops, and the like, which may or may not have any effect on the cold.

There is no sure way of warding off a cold in modern society. Most colds develop after contact with someone who already has one and since it is impossible to make hermits of ourselves, there are only a few things which can be done to lessen the risk of catching the common cold.

The most important is to avoid exposure to those who already have this type of infection—especially when a cold is just starting. Public places, such as street cars and moving-picture theaters, almost always have one or two people in them who are coming down with or recovering from a cold.

If we can keep out of these places when colds are frequent there would almost certainly be fewer attacks. But the person who has a cold could help most by not exposing others needlessly.

Although most colds seem to be definitely spread by contact, a word must be said about the additional risk of catching cold following chilling, drafts, or wet feet.

Probably chilling alone does not produce a cold. However, many people seem to be able to resist or throw off colds most of the time. But if they get wet feet or sit in a draft they are much more likely to come down with a cold.

RESISTANCE DROPS

Some people claim wet feet or drafts do not bother them. However, wet feet or exposure to drafts is followed by a cold too often in too many people to be scoffed at. Probably the reason for this association is some temporary drop in resistance caused by the exposure.

Once a cold does start, the safest thing to do is to go to bed at once and stay there until the symptoms are better. As far as drugs such as the antihistamines are concerned, some people claim good results but others are far from convinced of any benefits.

Dixon AAUW Hears of Civilian Defense Plans From Local Men

A panel discussion on civilian defense was the program at the guest night meeting of the Dixon branch of American Association of University Women at Loveland Community House Monday evening. Miss Cornelia Conibear, president, opened the business meeting during which important announcements were made.

At a recent meeting of the board, Miss Bernice Burkard was appointed secretary to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Mrs. J. E. Arrington. Announcements concerning the fellowship fund were made by Mrs. I. B. Hoefler.

Members of Panel

Mrs. Louis Snow, chairman of the committee on education, introduced the following members of the panel: August Wimpleberg and John Cully, co-directors of civilian defense; Dement Schuler, director of health and safety and Dr. Walter Grigg who served for Dr. C. K. Bush as director of medical service and public health. George Fluhr, director of public works, was unable to be present. Mrs. Snow acted as moderator during the meeting.

A general over-all picture of the civilian defense organization was given by Mr. Wimpleberg. He pointed out the possibility of an atomic bomb attack and the magnitude of the damage such an attack could cause.

There are four classifications of areas within the state. Dixon is not in a critical area but is in classification 3. This is: Not a target area but its citizens are required by the state director and civilian defense to render mobile support to neighboring communities suffering an attack. However, it is the belief of the committee that it is our moral obligation to render not only mobile aid but mutual aid also. Mobile aid would be to send medical teams and other teams of electricians, plumbers and such into an attacked area for rescue work. In the event of an attack on Chicago and any other neighboring city, Lee county families would be expected to take refugees into their homes until they could be returned to their own city.

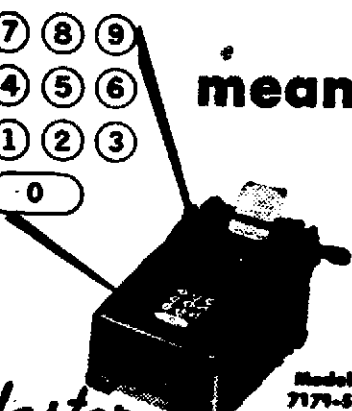

Planning Bureau

The committee expects to set up a bureau in which important information will be kept on file, such as homes available for refugees, names of Boy and Girl Scouts for messenger service and names of voluntary workers, classified according to their abilities and skills. Mr. Cully said that reading material on civilian defense has been ordered and will probably be distributed to school children to be taken home.

The matter of biological warfare was discussed by Dr. Grigg. Little of this is anticipated but if such would happen, a plan of reporting will be started which would enable doctors to locate quickly an epidemic of a disease before unfamiliar to us.

Attention was called to the fact that mutual and mobile support are in different divisions by Mr. Lindquist. Mobile is under the state director of civilian defense and mutual is simply a service between communities and not under the state director. Refreshments were served by Miss Alice Richardson and her committee.

U. S. Navy Ready for Defense Role in Mediterranean Zone

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A strengthened U.S. naval force in the Mediterranean, its carriers evidently prepared to launch atomic bomb planes, will help hold the southern flank of Europe's defenses if Russia starts a war.

That picture of the growing role of the navy in the Western European defense setup emerged out of a news conference yesterday by Secretary of the Navy Kimball, just back from an on-the-spot look at the Mediterranean and European military scene. In answering reporters' questions, Kimball said:

Ready With A-Bombs

1. Yes, he would guess that the U.S. 6th fleet is set to deliver atomic bombs if necessary. (Last summer, Adm. William F. Fletcher, chief of naval operations, disclosed that carrier units were in training for handling of atomic bombs.)

2. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, supreme commander of Western European defense forces, told Kimball he "wants carriers and needs them" as a vital part of the integrated defense system.

Kimball also confirmed what had been generally apparent in recent months—that there has been a steady and substantial increase in 6th fleet strength. He said it now numbers between 60 and 70 ships of all types. (A year ago the total was below 30.)

Must Keep Suez Open

Kimball was asked whether he thought it was essential to retain control of the Suez canal, the link between the West and the Far East.

"There is no argument about that; we've got to keep the Suez open," he asserted.

When asked who "we" would be, he said he meant the British. That seemed to indicate he did not expect the U. S. navy to take any active role with the British navy in the latter's current jousting with the Egyptian government over control of the canal.

Since 1945 he has been leader of the opposition.

Men who work for Churchill work like dogs, alternately lashed and cajoled by a chief who is tireless and has faced just about every conceivable job. While the juniors are resting, the chief paints pictures, builds stone walls, attends to his garden and writes his monumental books.

Churchill has always been an administrator of great industry, and he attracted competent men to his side. He has not always had his own way. His career is marked by great failures and magnificent triumphs. Magnificent at the start of the first World War was his decision, as First Lord of the Admiralty, to keep the home fleet out.

Pfc. Jacobs enlisted in the army in Oct. 1948, received his basic training at Camp Breckinridge, Ky., and spent time overseas in Okinawa before going to Korea. He had returned on a furlough in May, 1950, before the outbreak of the Korean conflict. He was in one of the first detachments of troops to see action in that area.

plained. The coal production in Germany is 2.5 tons a day for each man while in England it is 1.09 tons a day for each miner.

He spoke of the refugee problem in Germany where more than 20,000 persons a month flee the iron curtain but are received with coldness by the West which has no place to house them and no employment. He stated that Berliners, although surrounded by the Russians show more optimism than anyone else in Europe.

Voice Not Impressed

Gen. Wilbur said he is "not impressed" by the Voice of America broadcasts. He told of a German in the Red zone who risked his freedom to listen to the broadcasts and heard a travel talk about the Everglades.

Another opinion was expressed that "the Germans will fight under a French general if the French will fight under a German general."

In France he found that the people have plenty to eat but "have little pride as a race."

Losing "War"

In Russia the people are satisfied with their government. The army is strong, loyal and well-trained. He said East Germans are accepting the Red regime. America is losing the psychological war not only in Europe but in Asia, he claimed.

"Chinese students and the intelligentsia could not believe that we gave Manchuria to the Russians. It would be like Britain giving New York and New England to Canada because they helped in the war," he said.

Have Alternative

"We must give more time and intelligence to the psychological and economic war," the general said. "If we succeed in that there will not be a shooting war."

Miss Edith Wentworth, past president of the IEA, asked members to donate $3 each for a building fund to erect an addition to the state headquarters in Springfield. A total of $150,000 is needed. The group hopes to have the addition built for use by the centennial year, 1953.

Witness Tells How Deadly Poisoned Liquor Was Brewed

ATLANTA. (AP)—A former convict charged with murder in the death of 31 persons who died here after drinking poisoned liquor was identified last night as a mixer of deadly moonshine.

Solicitor Paul Webb of Fulton county said a North Georgia farmer told him he saw John R. (Fat) Hardy blend wood alcohol and well water at an abandoned farmhouse about 25 miles northeast of Atlanta.

The brew was made a few days before a wave of moonshine liquor deaths began sweeping Atlanta, Webb said the farmer related.

Webb said the farmer—52-year-old Luke Turner—told him last night that Hardy was aided by an unidentified Negro in mixing the deadly stuff.

A few hours earlier the solicitor had filed murder charges against Hardy, a 360-pounder.

The huge one-time convict admitted he had peddled 99 gallons of a mixture of wood alcohol and water to Negro bootleggers here, Webb disclosed.

Hardy, 44, was found yesterday in an Atlanta hospital where he was being treated for a fractured arm suffered, he said, in a motor car accident.

Since the wave of moonshine deaths took its first toll Sunday night, 29 Negroes and two White persons have died and 301 other victims have received hospital treatment.

At mid-week last White men died of wood alcohol poisoning at nearby Winder, Ga., and a third was reported in critical condition. These deaths brought the total fatalities in the Atlanta area to 33.

Maytown Man Held for Theft Of Articles

Ivan Nehring, 47, Maytown, was arrested Wednesday night by Sheriff Charles Redebaugh and Dixon Chief of Police Frank Tyne on a charge of stealing articles from a parked car.

He was arraigned Thursday night by Justice of the Peace Sterling W. Schrock and bond was set at $1,000. The case was continued to 2 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 1.

Nehring allegedly stole a watch from the glove compartment of a car owned by Edmund Bradley, Dixon, which was parked on Depot avenue between Sixth and Seventh streets Wednesday.

The two officers and Deputy Sheriff John Stauffer picked up Nehring at the home of a brother near Maytown.

Reservists Will Serve 24 Months

WASHINGTON, (AP) — An army spokesman said last night there are no plans to release or delist reservists sooner than the 24 month active duty terms specified in the Universal Military Training and Service (UMTS) act.

He spelled out the army's reserve release plans as follows:

1. All organized reservists will serve 24 months. The only exceptions, he said, will be enlisted men whose extended enlistments expire before 24 months. They will be released on that earlier date and have no further reserve obligation.

2. Enlisted veterans and non-veterans called involuntarily from the volunteer and inactive reserve will be released by this Dec. 20.

3. Enlisted veterans called voluntarily from the volunteer and inactive reserve will be released after 16 months service or when their extended enlistments expire, whichever is sooner.

4. Officer veterans called either voluntarily or involuntarily from the volunteer or inactive reserve may apply for release after 17 months service since the Korean outbreak.

5. Officer non-veterans will serve 24 months, whether called voluntarily or involuntarily.

The army spokesman said a veteran for these purposes is a man who served 12 months or more on active duty between Pearl Harbor and Sept. 2, 1945.

He said any enlistments which expired before June 30, 1952, have been extended 12 months from date of expiration but no man's enlistment may be extended more than once unless he consents.

"The Royal family is above politics," he said. "There is no comment they can make."

In your newspaper this morning were stories about murder, scandal, union headaches and spy hideouts. You read all these. High Finance, Like Hats, Being Made Alluring to Female Trade

BY DOROTHY ROE

Associated Press Women's Editors

There are definite straws in the wind to indicate that the tycoons of high finance are waking up to make stocks and bonds as exciting as a new perfume or a new fur coat.

In the past their sales methods have been strictly archaic, depending mostly on solemn young men in black derbies who canvassed friends-of-the-family for investments.

Now a change in the air.

Flirt With Fems

Banks and brokerage houses have been flirting with the feminine trade through women's club programs and bank forums. Now a move is under way to pep up stockholders' meetings—up to now probably one of the dullist institutions in all the musty halls of finance.

An example is the recent regional stockholders' meeting held by Federated Department Stores in Columbus, O. Instead of holding the procedure to a dry recital of figures on gross sales, net income and earnings, the corporation president, Fred Lazarus jr., decided to put on a show for the men and women who had invested their savings.

Since half the $400 million business done last year by the corporation was in fashion, it seemed logical to explain to the stockholders what makes fashion.

Fashion Show Gets 'em

This was done by staging an elaborate fashion show, complete with beautiful models and stage settings. The show displayed some of the season's lush fashions, and then went on to demonstrate how a store buyer selects styles that will sell, how fashions are shown to buyers months in advance in New York's teeming garment center, how a store tests sales acceptance, and so on.

A leading designer was present, to explain how next year's hit style begins on a drawing board, gets draped in muslin, becomes a sample and is shown to press and buyers.

Buyers In Cast

Store buyers formed part of the cast, telling their audience how they visit hundreds of showrooms and look at thousands of styles before making their selections for the next season.

Store executives explained how a successful fashion is tabulated—how ticket stubs are counted to find what is selling best, in what styles, sizes, colors and fabrics. The stockholders also learned how promotions are planned, how Sunday ads are plotted, how window displays, fashion shows and television are used to step up the sales chart.

It Was Fun

After the meeting, the investors had a much better idea how department stores make money, and a deeper appreciation of the effort put forth to earn their dividends.

But, just as important, the meeting was fun. It indicated that some day it may be just as entertaining to shop for stocks and bonds as to go in search of a new hat.

Truman Will Push Gen. Mark Clark's Appointment to Vatican

WASHINGTON —(AP)—President Truman's evident determination to resubmit the appointment of Gen. Mark Clark as ambassador to the Vatican forecasts a bitter battle when congress returns to Washington.

Truman told a White House news conference yesterday the hula-balloo raised by his decision to establish formal diplomatic relations with the Roman Catholic church state was not as great as he expected.

The president also asserted that sending an ambassador to the Vatican—where the U.S. recently has been represented only by a personal representative of the president—does not conflict with the traditional American policy of separation of church and state.

Will Submit Name

This issue has been raised by Protestant church groups, among them the Baptist denomination to which Truman belongs.

With the obvious inference he plans to resubmit the Clark nomination when congress returns in January, Truman said there would be time in the interim for the people to get the criticism of his action off their chests.

The president dashed the hopes of some Democratic senators who have been urging that he sidestep out of the controversy by naming Clark as his personal representative. Myron G. Taylor previously served in that role.

Faces Issue Squarely

Asked why he nominated Clark as an ambassador, Truman said because that was the way he wanted it. That's my choice, he said, indicating he is willing to face the church-state issue squarely.

He took the step, the president added, because he believed the cause of peace would be served by having an official representative at the Vatican. He did not mention, as he had last Saturday in announcing the appointment, the Catholic church's opposition to Communism.

Truman made it plain that he, and not Clark, had stipulated the general was to retain his active military status. It was the same sort of arrangement he had made in the past with Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff and former veterans' administrator, and Gen.

George C. Marshall, former secretary of defense, the president said. Congress passed laws to exempt Bradley and Marshall from provisions of a law against a military officer's holding a civilian post.

Dog Takes $50,000 Bite From Actress

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Actress Jocelyn Courtes' dislike for John Button's great dane dog was reciprocated—painfully.

"The dog watched me with a mean expression when I joined a group at a house party," she told newsmen after her $50,000 damage suit against Button had been settled out of court.

"I said, 'don't look at me that way,' and the dog bit me," she added. She declined to disclose settlement terms.

Homecoming: Dukes vs. Rockets

That was a colorful parade the Dixon high school students staged through downtown Dixon last night. The whole affair was well-planned. Almost all of the 34 floats were original, practicable and suitable, the three points which the judges were to consider in awarding prizes. All were eye-catching.

JUDGING THE FLOATS was a difficult task, one that left the judges wide open for comebacks from other, non-official judges. However, George Lindquist, Dr. Stitzel and the writer, the three victims who did the choosing, were pretty well agreed on the top three floats. The judges agreed, too, that the over-all quality of the entries was topnotch.

It was a show that most any college wouldn't have been ashamed to present. Let's hope Dixon's football team will do as well tonight.

BY REQUEST, we repeat yesterday's announcement of the meeting of all members of the DHS class of '31 tonight after the game in a room in the high school. The meeting room number will be announced at the game.

SOUND FAMILIAR? "Coach Bob Breckenridge's Lincoln (Rockford) junior high school eleven officially won the city junior high football championship by defeating Washington 20 to 0 Wednesday afternoon."

From the DeKalb Chronicle comes word that George Acker, varsity guard on the NISTC football team, has been appointed assistant director of the DeKalb Youth Planning council, an organization designed "to meet the healthy needs of the youth in the community."

THE CHRONICLE had this to say of Acker's appointment: "Acker is not new to the Youth Planning council program. He was selected by Northern Illinois State Teachers college to direct last summer's tennis clinic which was sponsored jointly by the Youth Planning council and the college. In addition, Acker served as an official for the Youth Council baseball leagues. An outstanding athlete and known for his good sportsmanship, Acker always set a high example for young people."

ALTHOUGH THEY didn't win a prize, special mention should go to Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Swarts of Rockford, both DHS grads, who decorated their car and participated in the Homecoming parade last night. Swarts graduated in 1920 and his wife, Lucille, is a 1923 graduate.

Wink McReynolds, the likes of whom the Dukes could use in a football uniform tonight, reports that the Church softball league will meet Monday at 7:30 p. m. in St. Paul's church for election of officers.

Hunters Start Firing at Noon

HAVANA, Ill. — (AP) — The vanguard of a predicted 100,000 weekend hunters gunned for ducks and geese beginning at noon today, the first of 45 days of legal waterfowl shooting in Illinois.

Joe Davidson, state game management chief, forecast that 100,000 sportsmen would shoot from Illinois and Mississippi river blinds today through Sunday.

Nearly a half million of the migratory waterfowl were already reported in Illinois to provide targets.

All official observers forecast a good year for the shooters and the best outlook in several years for opening day.

One conservation department spokesman said firing which began a week or 10 days ago in northern and western states would drive more ducks within range of Illinois sportsmen.

They hoped for cooler weather to promote duck movement, too. Regardless, a prevailing shortage of wild forage was expected to force flights into a restless quest for food.

Public Grounds Open
A second climax to opening day anticipations will come tomorrow with the first duck hunting on the public shooting grounds this year.

Egad! You zillions of readers who have been patient through the failures of my several systems, including Finnegan's and Zlobotny's, are about to be rewarded.

For now we come to a week of upsets that will shake the pigskin world to its very foundations, and I have forecast a batch of these for you.

Chief of the upsets will be Oregon State's victory over the vaunted California Bear, by 20-to-14. And oh, yes, Stanford to beat Washington, 21-to-14.

Two upsets will occur in the middle west, where Notre Dame will bow to Purdue, 26-to-20, and Minnesota will eke out a close one over Michigan, 20-to-14.

Speaking of close scores, Navy's victory over Pennsylvania this week, which also comes under the heading of the unexpected, will be by a 21-to-20 count—quite a thriller—har-rumph!

Slipping Bomber Meets Marciano

Louis Rated Slim Choice Over Youth

NEW YORK — (AP)—Agging Joe Louis, who wants another shot at the heavyweight crown more than anything else in the world, risks that chance tonight when he faces young, undefeated, hard-hitting Rocky Marciano in a Madison Square Garden ten-round.

This is the big test of his comeback for the 37-year-old former Bomber and he knows it. A loss to the hard-hitting, 27-year-old Brockton, Mass., better means the end of the trail for one of the ring's alltime greats.

Louis Near End?
The betting professionals believe Louis is approaching the end. They have established him as a slim 6 to 5 favorite—the shortest odds in all of jarring Joe's career.

By fight time (9 p.m., CST), the odds may go up to 8 to 5. The lowest price ever on Louis was the 9 to 5 odds for his second fight with Max Schmeling. And you know what happened—Max was knocked out in 2:04 of the first round.

But 13 years have gone by since then and apparently so has most of the old dynamite in the Bomber's right fist. His reflexes have dulled and there isn't much resemblance between the young tiger of 13 years ago and the balding campaigner of today.

Joe Confident
Louis, however, feels he has enough left to whip the "crude, rough ex-GI who has come up like a rocket."

"I'll beat him," said Louis. "Maybe knock him out."

"I'll win," said Rocky, "maybe knock him out. I think I can beat anyone in the world."

It's the old story of the ring—the veteran on the downgrade and the eager, hungry youngster on the rise. And the ancient drama of the ring will lure over 15,000 fans and a gross gate of around $150,000.

Millions more will watch the struggle via coast to coast telecasts by NBC. The radio broadcast will be over ABC.

Trippi Ends Feud With Curly Lambeau

CHICAGO. (AP)—A threatened feud between Coach Curly Lambeau of the Chicago Cardinals and his star quarterback, Charley Trippi, apparently has been averted.

The two shook hands yesterday and declared a widely publicized ruckus was only a misunderstanding.

Trippi got headlines Wednesday and Thursday with a charge that the Card coaching staff was "buck passing" in the club's 7-3 loss last Sunday to the Washington Redskins. It was the third defeat in four National Football league games.

Trippi indicated that he thought he was getting too much of the blame for poor play-calling. He said "the bench" was doing most of the calling in critical situations.

Lambeau was reported ready for disciplinary action against Trippi and, when the two met on the practice field yesterday, there was an awkward hour or two when neither spoke the other.

Later it developed that Trippi had not singled out Lambeau specifically for his criticism, but the entire coaching staff.

Upon hearing this, Lambeau softened and willingly posed with Trippi for a handshake. Managing Director Walter Wolfner, reported earlier this week to be considering firing Lambeau, joined in the friendly pose.

The Cardinals play the Pittsburgh Steelers Sunday.

BIG 10 GRID BRIEFS

Northwestern — Coach Bob Voigts' concern for his passing attack was exemplified yesterday by the work of quarterback Bob Burson, who practiced throwing for an hour and a half. Voigts has been stressing the overhead game all week in preparation for Wisconsin.

Wisconsin—Two new worries stepped into the Badger headquarters... end Gene Felker and linebacker Roger Dornburg have been injured... How seriously hasn't been determined.

Iowa—The Hawkeyes lost an important man just before enplaning for Columbus and the Ohio State game... Regular linebacker Mike Riley turned in his suit... He reportedly wanted to play more offensively.

Ohio State — Coach Woody Hayes is happy with the performance of his latest backfield combination: quarterback Bill Wilks, fullback Tony Curcillo, and halfbacks Bernie Skvarka and Walt Klevay.

Minnesota—Fifteen freshmen are on the 40-man Gopher squad leaving for the Michigan game today.

Michigan—The Wolverines are reported to have reached a peak for the Minnesota game, in which the traditional Little Brown Jug is at stake.

Purdue—Injuries have forced a new ball-carrying trio on the Boilermakers... They are halfbacks James Whitmer and John Durham and fullback Max Schmalung...

Notre Dame — Coach Frank Leahy indicates his Irish hope to bottle up the Purdue passing attack.

Marquette—Miami's wide open offense, as presented by reserves, is causing the Hilltoppers trouble.

Illini Wary of Upset Saturday Against Improving Hoosiers

CHAMPAIGN, Ill.—(AP)—The momentum of an upsurging Indiana football team, with history riding along, endangers unbeaten Illinois in its game with the Hoosiers at Bloomington, Ind., Saturday.

The Illini are favorites, by up to two touchdowns, but Illinois supporters say this fact is but another of the cards that are being stacked for an upset.

Illini Riding High
Coach Ray Ehot and his boys are riding high, but they've escaped defeat twice in their string of four wins by narrow margins. In their only Big Ten victory, over Wisconsin, 14-10, the Badgers ran and passed effectively, enough for victory normally, but the Illini came up with the long end of the score.

Last weekend, against Washington, only the coolheaded, last-minute pitching of young Tom O'Connell enabled Illinois to emerge with a 27-20 victory.

Ehot has had to contend with the favorite tag nearly all year. As early as last spring, the experts were picking Illinois to win the Big Ten race. That's still the consensus.

Makes Some Changes
The Illinois coach has been striving all week to guard against overconfidence by the squad. He's made some changes in his lineup in an effort to instill more snap in it. The latest was the selection of Pete Bachouros, once a third string fullback, for a starting halfback position.

Injuries to three key linemen, tackle Don Tate, center Dan Sabing and tackle Dick Jenkins, aren't helping. None is expected to see much action, if any, Saturday.

Indiana is ideally situated for a surprise in the game; it's homecoming contest.

Hoosiers Bugged
Big things were expected of the Hoosiers this year. Their squad was known to be powerful in every

Kentuckians Confess New Point Shave

NEW YORK, (AP) — Three University of Kentucky basketball stars of recent years, already charged with fixing one game, have admitted to shaving points in another.

District Attorney Frank S. Hogan said Alex Groza, Ralph Beard and Dale Barnstable told the New York county grand jury yesterday they received $500 each for keeping the score of the Feb. 8, 1949 Kentucky-Tennessee game under 18 points.

The trio have pleaded guilty to conspiracy in the fixing of the National Invitation tournament game between Kentucky and Loyola of Chicago in Madison Square Garden, March 14, 1949.

The district attorney quoted the three men as saying the Tennessee "deal" was arranged by Nick and Tony English, Saul Feinberg and Nat (Lovey) Brown.

The English brothers and Feinberg are being held here under indictment as fixers and Brown as a material witness in the basketball investigation.

Groza scored 34 points against Tennessee as Kentucky won 71-56. Beard, hampered by an injured ankle, tallied six times but fouled out after 15 minutes. Barnstable made eight points.

More Than One Way to Hunt A Duck: AP

NEW YORK — (AP) — Like skinning cats, there's more than one way to hunt ducks. And the refinements in the art are about as numerous as this fall's crop of ducks, reportedly the largest ever.

But from rock-ribbed Maine to the Bayous of Louisiana, there are still some basic points for the neophyte Nimrod. Whether you're gunning for the sagacious puddle duck or the fleet-winged diver, the first thing is—sit still! Nothing scares the wary waterfowl so much as the sound of voices, laughter or a cough—which they can hear at unbelievable distances.

Over-eager hunters often fail to make sure that the blind is carefully camouflaged with fresh foliage or rushes natural to the location. These sporting birds can see as well as hear. And don't smoke in the blinds. That's a dead giveaway.

One of the points a lot of canny sportsmen make is "learn from nature." Go out a day or so before you shoot, study the terrain, look for a likely spot and build your blind well in advance to give it time to blend in. Anywhere you can spot a flock feeding is a good place to select.

One of the best ways to learn how to set your decoys is to watch the incoming birds, study the pattern they make on the water. Then copy this pattern when you set out your decoys, in approximately the same number.

When it comes to the decoys themselves, there is difference of opinion. There are dogged claims for every type under the sun. More and more hunters, however, are taking to the self-inflating, light-weight rubber collapsible decoys which eliminate so much bulk and weight and can be carried in the coat or a small bag. Many hunters mix with these a few old fashioned wooden blocks with swivel necks, so that a few birds appear to be looking warily around. You certainly can't go wrong working for realism in your spread.

Dixon will enter the game with a 3-3 record, while Rock Falls has lost five straight games.

Homecoming stunts, which started with a parade and pep meeting last night, will be continued between the games and between halves of the varsity contest.

After the parade last night the following floats were awarded prizes:

Honorable mention went to home rooms 304, 301, 106 and 109. More than 30 floats participated in the parade, which was viewed by a large crowd in downtown Dixon.

Many Special Events
Special events scheduled for tonight include the dedication of the flagpole donated by the Boosters club before the varsity game, a dance and crowning of the Homecoming queen during the usual halftime ceremony. Prize-winning floats will be displayed at halftime.

To Drop Federal Tax on High School Athletic Events

WASHINGTON — (AP)— The 20 per cent federal tax on tickets to high school athletic contests goes off next Thursday, Nov. 1. But the tax still applies to college games.

Elimination of the levy on high school games was one of the relatively few tax reductions or removals in the $5,681,000,000 tax increase bill signed by President Truman last Saturday.

It applies specifically to elementary and secondary (high) schools and then only if "the proceeds inure exclusively to the benefit" of these institutions.

A United America Can Crush Communism, Says Lee County Teachers' Institute Speaker

Bob Siegrist, Mutual Broadcasting system newscaster, speaking before the Lee county annual teacher's institute Thursday afternoon said, "No nation on earth can crush our country if we stick by the original concepts which made us great."

Siegrist, in a talk titled "Today's News for History," traced the background of the growth of Communism in the world. He explained how Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek, Francisco Franco and Sen. Joseph McCarthy all have seen the threat of communism and have been ridiculed for their resistance.

"There is no so-called common origin between the United States and Russia and the American and Russian revolutions can not be compared despite what some educators try to teach," Siegrist said.

Everything and Nothing
"The Communists offered everything and delivered nothing just as our false gods today offer everything from the cradle to the grave denying God's word to Adam that man shall earn by the sweat of his brow," the commentator continued.

Siegrist, quoting Nicolai Lenin who said, "After Russia, Spain," explained that Soviet forces fostered the revolution in Spain in the 1930s. "Thank God for Franco," Siegrist stated. "Now with cooperation with Franco we can control the mouth of the Mediterranean and possibly prevent an American Dunkerque."

Never Understand
Speaking of the attacks of Hitler and the designs of the Kremlin all explained in Mein Kampf and Lenin's writing Siegrist stated, "Distortors write out their plans but the Roosevelt, Trumans and Chamberlains never seem able to understand them."

He talked of Chiang's government in China where Russia offered help and behind the government's back began to set up cells in the Chinese army. While Chiang was opposing the spreading Communism the Japanese attacked with 1,500,000 men. Chiang fought both the Reds and the Japs, Siegrist said. "Chiang's greatest crime is loyalty to the American ideal," the commentator claimed.

Tells Growth
He explained how Communism grew in America after the New Deal government recognized the Russian government in 1932. Siegrist said that the Soviets sponsored the hunger march on Lansing, Mich., in 1931 during the depression.

In 1932, using the same "cannon fodder" generalism they instigated the veterans' bonus march on Washington. "Gen. Douglas MacArthur, chief of staff under Hoover, recognized this thing for what it was and defeated it," Siegrist was interrupted by applause at this point.

Same in Korea
"When our men, ill-equipped and ill-prepared, were thrust into Korea the Communist marched civilians, men, women and children, into our lines using the same cannon fodder tactics."

According to the FBI there are 58,000 known Communists in America and 500,000 known sympathizers. J. Edgar Hoover, well-known Red fighter, was to be fired immediately after General MacArthur if it had not been for the storm of protest, Siegrist said.

"Isn't it strange that MacArthur, Chiang and Senator McCarthy are all charged with the same vague charges by the queer set in Washington?"

Reads From Text
Siegrist read from a Chicago schools civics text book a question asking students to compare education in America and Russia which gave as a reference the book, "I Want To Be Like Stalin."

No comparable American book was noted. The book has been removed from the classroom following an editorial campaign by The Chicago Tribune, the speaker stated.

Siegrist warned that our nation can topple from within much in the manner of the fall of Rome. "I'm not nearly as worried over the Russian A-bomb as I am about some of the A-bombs walking around Washington."

He reiterated his charge of the morning by asking the "doubting and weak" teachers to stay out of classrooms. "I defy any of you to sleep with your conscience if anything you have said in the past has caused one American boy to shed his blood in Korea."

Return to Basic Concepts
He urged Americans to get back to their basic concepts of God and country so that "the headlines of tomorrow will make more pleasant reading than the miserable ones of today."

Siegrist had a 6:45 to 7 a. m. broadcast in Chicago Thursday but arrived in Dixon at 9:35 a. m. for his first talk. County Supt. John Torrens said that he believed Siegrist's talks "have made more thinking teachers of us all."

One Killer, 6 Hurt When U. S. Ship Hit

TOKYO — (AP)—One U.S. sailor was killed and six were injured when Red sore batteries hit the U.S. heavy cruiser Helena and the escort destroyer Ulvert M. Moore recently off Korea's east coast. Far East naval headquarters, making the disclosures today, said both ships remained on the battle line.

One shell hit the Moore Oct. 17. A Red shore battery hit the superstructure of the Helena Oct. 22.

The canal, built in 1797, connecting Lakes Superior and Huron had a 9-foot lock, only large enough for canoes.

RENO—(AP)—Max C. Fleischmann left his huge fortune to humanity when he took his life at Santa Barbara, Calif., last week. The fortune—estimated by friends at more than $50,000,000—will go almost entirely into the Max C. Fleischmann foundation of Nevada, the state in which he lived most of the past 15 years.

Established last March, the foundation will be administered by his widow, Sarah, and five other trustees.

Heir to a vast yeast and distillery fortune, Fleischmann shot himself after he learned he was incurably ill with cancer.

Utah was originally called "Deseret," a name used in the Book of Mormon, meaning "honey bee."
